Among MGIMO graduates – 2 Presidents, 10 Foreign Ministers, 8 Prime Ministers, 880 Ambassadors of Russia and foreign countries.

- 12 Dual Master’s Degree Programs, with another 4 coming up.
B.A. IN INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

The four-year program for international students, taught entirely in English. The program was launched in 2012 as the first Russian course to train international students in English at the Bachelor’s level. Prospective students will find at the University a powerful network of peers within which they can expand their knowledge, learn from one another, test new ideas, and remain at the cutting edge of research on government and public policy for years after their formal education.

The program is committed to excellence in leadership, public policy and international affairs, based on the University’s vast experience. For over six decades, the MGIMO-University has been educating professionals who serve in diplomacy, politics, public, private and nonprofit organizations to make a difference in the world. Through rigorous social and political science research and hands-on experience, the MGIMO graduates and faculty work to improve state rule and administration, social services, stand up for human rights, strengthen markets, protect the environment, and cherish peace in their home communities and the world over.
The B.A. in Government and International Affairs is intended for students wishing to do graduate research afterwards, as well as for careers in practical fields – such as domestic politics and diplomacy, international business, and intelligence analysis – anything which demands profound analytical skills coupled with impeccable foreign language fluency.

The course is multi-disciplinary, reflecting the need for public leaders who can reach across specialist fields to find more innovative solutions to difficult policy challenges.

The course is practical, responding directly to the demand for policy experts who can also employ their practical skills as negotiators, financial managers and communicators to deliver successful results.

The course is global in that students learn how policy is made, implemented and evaluated in governments and corporations around the world, and at local, regional and global levels.

The Russian-Norwegian Master’s Program specializing in “International Business in the Oil and Gas Sector” was launched in September 2005. The Program represents real contribution to the energy dialog between Russia and Norway and is oriented primarily at joint training of specialists for the development, by Norwegian and Russian companies, of energy resources in the Barents Sea region.

The Program combines the scientific and expertise potential of the leading education and science centers in Russia and Norway, as well as other European countries and the USA. The International Institute of Energy Policy and Diplomacy of MGIMO of Russia possesses significant experience in the field of training high-level personnel for international energy co-operation, leading major international oil and gas projects, playing a major role in energy diplomacy and geopolitics. University of Nordland Graduate School of Business is a recognized center for oil and gas business education. The curriculum balances fundamental academic concepts and effective practical training.

The MBA Program is run in cooperation with JSC “Oil Company ROSNEFT”, Russia’s largest oil producer and one of the world's leading energy companies that provides trainees for the MBA Program and pays all expenses for the OC “Students”. The program meets international standards and is customized to meet OC “ROSNEFT” requirements.

The joint Russian-Norwegian Master’s Program meets the highest of educational standards of both countries and of the Bologna System. The duration of studies is two years. During the first and fourth semesters the master’s candidates study at their home universities, the second semester is hosted by the Nordland University, Norway, and the third semester – by MIEP MGIMO.

M.A. IN MANAGEMENT – M.S. IN BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Russian-Swedish Dual Master’s Degree Program with Linnaeus University, Sweden

The Russian-Swedish Dual Master’s Degree program comes into force in September 2013, awarding students two Master Degrees within two years of study: Master of Art in Management, from MGIMO and Master of Science in Business Administration from Linnaeus University. The key goal of the program is to increase the number of qualified graduates in the area of Management and Business Administration.

Linnaeus University strives to be one of the leaders nationally, known for its strong international profile. It offers a rigorous educational experience due to its close relations with both national and transnational corporations and practically-oriented approach to an academic process. The cornerstone of the joint program is an unprecedented combination of empirical research on campus and internship in private sector.

The program provides students with an unprecedented opportunity to choose one of three specializations during the first year of study at Linnaeus University:

- Marketing,
- International Business Strategy,
- Leadership and Management in International Contexts.

The program is going to be fulfilled with financial support from the Kamprad Family Foundation for Entrepreneurship, Research and Charity, that has recently decided to support scholarships for business students from Russia studying at Linnaeus University. Scholarship will cover tuition fees, application fees, accommodation costs and cost for course literature for the first year of study in Sweden.
